

Ship runs aground in Mexico

On December 25, 2005, the APL Panama ran aground off the Port of Ensenada, Mexico after the crew failed to pick up a required pilot for entry into the commercial harbor. With no pilot onboard, the ship's crew gave a rudder command that caused the vessel to run aground on a hidden sandbar near the entrance to the harbor.

